NOTE: An asterisk (*) under the column FT/BR indicates that the clause or provision has a fill-in in the text which requires information to be inserted.

When acquiring commercial items review 12.301(d) and (e). Notwithstanding prescriptions contained elsewhere in the FAR, when acquiring commercial items, you are required to use only those provisions and clauses prescribed in 12.301. The provisions and clauses prescribed in 12.301 shall be revised, as necessary, to reflect the applicability of statutes and Executive Orders to the acquisition of commercial items. You may include in solicitations and contracts, by addendum, other FAR provisions and clauses when their use is consistent with limitations in 12.302 (See 12.301(e) for examples). See 12.503 for applicability of certain laws to executive agency contracts for the acquisition of commercial items. See 12.504 for applicability of certain laws to subcontracts for the acquisition of commercial items. See 12.603 for streamlined solicitation procedures for commercial items.

The following listing of FAR clauses indicates which clauses may not ("no") or may ("yes") be used in acquisitions (beyond those required by Part 12.301) for commercial items. Note that this listing does not require inclusion of clauses, but merely provides that certain clauses MAY be used if they are appropriate. For use of a clause coded "CO" the contracting officer either must determine that the use of the clause is a commercial practice for the items being acquired, or obtain a waiver for use of the clause.

At the end of each "Use Instruction" below, I have inserted information in brackets ([]) which will assist you in determining the appropriateness of utilizing the clause/provision in an acquisition for commercial items. This is based on information provided by the GSA Office of Acquisition Policy. The following legend explains the abbreviations used in these notations.

Legend:

CC--consistent with commercial practices

S---required by statute

CO--may be used at contracting officer's discretion when appropriate
